Good Disinfectant.

Everyone knows the value of burning coffee as a disinfectant, but it is so identified with this use that one sets to wondering when sniffing its odor, about the smell which it may be covering up. Equally pleasant and effective is lavender, which may be used not only in the sick room, but through the house, to disguise the smell of food from the kitchen. To make the lavender disinfectant, soak sheets of common brown wrapping paper in salt-peter and water, then set them away to dry till wanted. When ready to use throw on one of these leaves of paper some flowers of lavender and burn them on a shovel, as in the case of the coffee.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do me any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

Patience.

Once in a while homes need to be patient places. The children seem rather disappointing; they do not quickly discover their place or find their niche. They must be allowed time and room. In the household, as everywhere else, tyranny over the individual must be prohibited if there are to be days of progress and contentment.—Woman's Life.

Struck a Rich Mine.

S. W. Bends, of Coal City, Ala., says he struck a perfect mine of health in Dr. King's New Life Pills for they cured him of Liver and Kidney Trouble after 12 years of suffering. They are the best pills on earth for Constipation, Malaria, Headache, Dyspepsia, Debility. 25c. at W. H. Windrow's.

Taffy for Grandmother.

There is hardly anything that flatters a grandmother more than telling her you don't believe she is one.—Galveston News.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

Peace and War.

A man should be as ready to fight for the best interests of his country in time of peace as in time of war.—Theodore Roosevelt.

To keep your health sound; to avoid the ills of advancing years; to conserve your physical forces for a ripe and healthful old age, guard your kidneys by taking Foley's Kidney Remedy.

Horse's Small Stomach.

The horse has a smaller stomach in proportion to its size than any other quadruped.

Eczema—Germ Disease Can Now Be Cured.

The Medical profession is all agreed that ECZEMA is a germ disease, but the thing that has baffled them is to find some remedy that will get to the germs and destroy them.

ZEMO, the clean, external treatment has solved this difficulty by drawing the germs to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the diseases. The whole method of treatment and cure by ZEMO is explained in an interesting book on the subject issued by the makers of ZEMO. It tells how to cure yourself at home of Eczema, Blackheads, Pimples, Dandruff, and all diseases of the skin and scalp. Call at W. H. Windrow's Drug Store for Booklet and learn more about this clean, simple remedy that is now recognized the standard treatment for all diseases of the skin and scalp.

History of Three-Dollar Gold Pieces.

Beginning with the year 1854 and ending with the year 1889, there were 539,792 of three-dollar gold coins sent out from the United States mints. A total value of $1,619,376. A few were made in the early years of the mints at Dahlonega and New Orleans and quite a number at the San Francisco mint up to 1860 but the bulk of these coins were turned out by the mint at Philadelphia. They were never coined in sufficient numbers, these figures show, to become really familiar, and it is hardly strange that the existence of the coin should be now largely forgotten.—Housekeeper Magazine.

Disagreeable At Home.

Lots of men and women who are agreeable with others get "cranky" at home. It is not disposition, it is the liver. If you find in yourself that you feel cross around the house, little things worry you, just buy a bottle of Ballard's Herbine and put your liver in shape. You and everybody around you will feel better for it. Price 50 cents a bottle. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Modernized.

Auntie Back from the sewing circle? I suppose you are making a crazy quilt for poor old lady Jones? Gwendolyn—Not much. Each girl brought a piece of a busted auto, and we are going to have them put together into a new machine for poor divorced Mrs. Uppish.—Puck.

The Laziest Man in the World

would not be content to be kept in the house and doing nothing by rheumatism. Neither are you, who are always busy and active. Then don't neglect the first twinge of an ache or pain that you might think is just a "crick." Rub well with Ballard's Snow Liniment and no matter what the trouble is it will disappear at once. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

Life's Opportunity.

Our business is now to make the most of this great and beautiful experiment of living—to leave behind us flowers for beauty and fruit for use—to make our life a harmony, our ending a serenity.—J. P. Hopps.

BRITISH ROYALTY.

Expenses of the royal household are $875,000 a year.

Since the Conquest, only three heirs to the English throne have married English women.

Until King Edward's death, May was the only month which had not seen the death of any British monarch.

King George, like King Edward, was a second child. His elder brother, the duke of Clarence, died January 13, 1892.

Probably not one man in a thousand dies in the house in which he was born. King Edward was born and died at Buckingham palace.

King George is the thirty-eighth ruler of his country since the Conquest. Six men were murdered, two executed, and four died violent deaths from wounds.

For forty years King Edward had a seat in the house of lords, yet he only recorded one vote, that being on the question of marriage with a deceased wife's sister.

Six British rulers have died in the sixth month of the year. It is a curious fact that the sixth day has also been unlucky for royalty. Henry II. died on July 6, Richard I. on April 6, Edward VI. on July 6, Charles II. on February 6, and Edward VII. on May 6.

TO TRY ON YOUR FRIENDS

A dry eye denotes a hard heart.

A pouting lip means timidity.

An open mouth, an empty head.

Coarse hair, a coarse mind.

Full cheeks show a good digestion.

A pointed nose means a meddling disposition.

Thick, curly hair means great physical strength.

A dimpled chin is pretty, but suggests feeble intellect.

A broad face is a proof of self assurance and obstinacy.

Full temples mean mathematical gifts.

Thick eyelids covering half the pupils, denote great artistic powers.

Bumps on the forehead mean great intelligence.

Compressed lips prove secretive-ness.

THE GIRL NOT TO MARRY

The girl who proudly declares that she cannot hem a pocket handkerchief, never made up a bed in her life and adds, with a simper, that she has been in society ever since she was fifteen.

The girl who would rather nurse a pug dog than a baby.

The girl who thinks that men are angels.

The girl who would rather die than wear a hat two seasons old.

The girl who thinks that the cook and nurse can keep house.

The girl who expects a declaration of love three times a day.

The girl who buys ornaments for the drawing-room and borrows kitchen utensils from her neighbors; and who thinks table decorations are of more importance than good food.

The girl who wants things just because other girls have them.

DYSPEPTIC PHILOSOPHY

It's when a fellow is full to the brim that he is apt to talk through his hat.

If a man is really as young as he feels it seems a pity he doesn't always look it.

We are told that kind words never die. At any rate they are never talked to death.

A man sometimes falls because he isn't quite up to things when they are up to him.

WHY HE WAS SUCCESSFUL

Some said because he had sand.

Some, because he had ginger.

Some, because of an iron constitution.

Some, because of his brazen impudence.

Some said he was a man of finer clay.

Some called him the salt of the earth.

Some said he was true steel.

And some said it was only because of his father's tin.—Life.

An Expert's Opinion of Skin Diseases.

A prominent, national expert on skin diseases whose name you are familiar with says that in all his scientific experience he has never found so hard a disease to conquer as Eczema. Yet he does not hesitate to recommend ZEMO as a most successful remedy for the treatment of Eczema, itching skin diseases, dandruff, pimples, blackheads and all other diseases of the skin and scalp. He says that not only do its curative qualities make it popular but also the fact that it is a clean, liquid remedy for external use. A great improvement over the old style greasy salves and lotions which are not only unpleasant to use but do not destroy the germ life that causes the disease. ZEMO draws the germs to the surface and destroys them, leaving the skin clear and healthy. Can be used freely on infants. Mr. W. H. Windrow will gladly supply those who call with a free sample bottle of ZEMO and a booklet which explains in simple language all about skin diseases and how to cure yourself at home with ZEMO.

The Hat and Royalty.

The hat plays a considerable part in civilization as a sign and a symbol quite apart from its purpose as a shelter against the weather. In the mother of parliaments the etiquette regarding it is so elaborate that new members frequently find themselves involved in difficulties. There are two peers who to this day possess the right of remaining covered in the presence of royalty, if they care to exercise it. And the king always puts on his field marshal's hat before he reads the speech to the assembled lords and commons.

Stagers Skeptics.

That a clean, nice, fragrant compound like Bucklen's Arnica Save will instantly relieve a bad burn, cut, scald, wound or piles, staggers skeptics. But great cures prove it's a wonderful healer of the worst sores, ulcers, boils, felons, eczema, skin eruptions, as also chapped hands, sprains and corns. Try it. 25c. at W. H. Windrow's.

His Natural Way.

"In spite of all her resistance, that young soldier caught his sweetheart and ardently embraced her." "Well, it is quite natural for a soldier to gain his conquest by force of arms."

A CAT AND DOG SKIRMISH

In Which the Cunning and Resourceful Cat Won by Superior Strategical Ability.

"I never fancied cats very much," said a limited lover of nature, "but certainly the cat is a fairly courageous animal and more than ordinarily shifty and resourceful, and so it's quite likely to be able to hold its own against an enemy much larger and more powerful than itself.

"Here was a yellow cat moving at a walk leisurely across the street while at the same time there was coming along this block a dog. When the dog saw the cat it started for it as fast as it could go, and when the cat saw the dog it turned on full power at once and fairly jumped to clear the remaining space to the other side of the street, where it halted with its back against a tall iron picket fence and faced the dog.

"Instantly the dog jumped for the cat, but even more quickly up went the cat's paw to sweep the air downward, and a cat's claws are very sharp and a dog's nose is very tender and delicate, and the dog didn't close. In a moment he jumped for the cat again, but again the cat clawed him off, or the fear of the claws was enough to make the dog shy again.

"But the next time evidently the dog was going to close in and rough house things and take the chances; and do you know what the cat did now? The cat is a very compressible creature; it can get through a very small space; and now this particular yellow cat backed in between two of those iron pickets to the inner side of the fence; but it didn't run away. It stayed right there, close to the inner side of the fence, which the dog couldn't get through, and when the dog came up for that last time the cat struck at it again through the fence with that swift, silent sweep of its paw, swung this time, as it seemed, with a sort of savagely cool contemptuousness. Then the foolish dog ran away.

"We may not fancy the cat, but we should err if we failed to give it at least some measure of admiration for the shifty ability with which it holds its own against its natural enemy."

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

Training Speaking Voice.

Listen to your own voice and try to hear how it sounds. Say a few words and listen. If you are not pleased, try again. Take the most melodious voice you know for a model and try to imitate the intonation or manner of speaking. It is the intonation that betrays the cultivated person more than the beauty of the voice itself, but quality will follow when the voice is properly supported by the breath and not forced.

A Morning Reminder.

You awake with a mean, nasty taste in the mouth, which reminds you that your stomach is in a bad condition. It should also remind you that there is nothing so good for a disordered stomach as Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets.

They build up the system, assist nature to restore natural conditions, and are so gentle in their action that one hardly realizes a medicine was taken. Chamberlain's Tablets are sold everywhere. Price 25c.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can, as a rule, be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

New Rigs Just Arrived

PHONE 61

THERE was a conference of anti-Bailey leaders at Dallas last Saturday. Little is known of the meeting as little was given out, the meeting being held behind closed doors. We are frank to say, however, that two mistakes were made. The public, in the first place, does not take kindly to star-chamber proceedings; and secondly, the Bailey question should not be agitated now. We have a worse enemy to the state than Baileyism to fight in that fanaticism that would destroy our liberty through prohibitory and restrictive laws. The enemy is firmly entrenched behind the anti-saloon league, a powerful and compact organization, and backed by limitless funds. They boast that they fight under a black flag and that the country will know no rest from their onslaughts until their cause is won, and a drop of liquor can nowhere be legally acquired for use as a beverage. Therefore, a common danger should make us unite in a common purpose and not become distracted over questions that can be met later on and at a more opportune time.

THERE is magic in the word "home". Speak it where you will, in the city's crowded mart or on the bleak and dreary desert's pathless and barren waste, and it conjures up visions of the sweetest spot on this sun-kissed sphere of human abode. What though the memory paints upon our mental vision only the lineaments of a squalid hovel, about its walls twine the vines of mother-love and around it blossom the sweet forget-me-nots of those most dear to us! Around its humble hearthstone dwells the benison of peace and there burns the vestal fires of filial affection! Man's safest refuge when storms of hate and passion sweep over his troubled soul, it is the source of his sweetest contentment, his purest affection and his brightest hopes. Home is the antithesis of hell and man's nearest approach on earth to heaven. Ah! there's magic in the word "home"!

Dear Sirs: If you were our agent, you'd have lots of fun hearing what competitors say of Devoe.

They all agree that it isn't right. It isn't right for them; it takes less gallons. They don't say that. They say: "too much zinc", "too much lead", they don't say "too little oil"; they don't say "too strong"; they don't say "goes too far", or "takes too few gallons to cover a job".

It is right for the owner; right for the painter; right for the building; wrong for the man who wants to sell more gallons for that same job.

We can't suit everybody. Enough to suit all but one.

Alfred C. Haegelin Killed.

Brownsville, Texas, Aug. 25.—The Hidalgo Branch train this afternoon struck an automobile containing J. B. Blake, C. A. Haegelin, J. M. Thornton Sr. and J. J. Thornton, all of San Antonio, near Closer, a small station nine miles north of Mission, killing two and injuring the other two.

The dead are:
C. A. Haegelin, 222 Mission Street, San Antonio; skull fractured at base of brain.

J. J. Thornton, killed instantly.

Injured:
J. M. Thornton Sr., fractured skull, nose and face and injured in back and across shoulders; condition serious.

J. B. Blake, 705 Guenther Street, San Antonio, injured across back and shoulders; not thought to be serious.

According to the statement of Engineer Ginn of the branch train, he was rounding a sharp curve and a house obscured his vision of the crossing and he did not see the occupants of the automobile until he was about 100 feet from them. He immediately applied the air brakes and whistled.

Upon seeing the oncoming train, Blake, who was driving the car, jumped. Young Thornton, who occupied the front seat, also jumped, but fell between the car and the train and was instantly killed.

Thornton Sr. and Haegelin, who occupied the rear seat were standing up when the collision occurred. All of the occupants were thrown to the side of the tracks.

Young Thornton died instantly.

The dead and wounded were placed on the train and brought into Brownsville tonight. Haegelin died of his injuries at Harlingen. The bodies of young Thornton and Haegelin were taken to Hinkley's undertaking establishment in this city, where they are being held pending advices from relatives. Blake and Thornton Sr. were taken to the Works Sanitarium here.

When seen by an Express representative Blake was unable to give a coherent account of the affair. However, he said that upon approaching the crossing he stopped the machine and listened for a train, and as he did not hear one he started to cross the track when the accident occurred. It is thought that Blake will recover, but the condition of Thornton Sr. is regarded as very critical.

All of the men in the automobile accident near Mission Thursday afternoon were residents of San Antonio. The car was a Westcott Forty, owned by J. Bishop Blake, and left San Antonio Wednesday morning.

Charles Alfred Haegelin resided at 222 Mission Street. He was a retired cattle man, heavily interested in real estate. He was born in Hondo, Medina County, thirty-two years ago. He moved to this city to reside two years ago. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Jane Deckert Haegelin, and a little daughter, Rosalind, 5 years old. Mrs. Haegelin was prostrated at the news of her husband's death.—Friday's Express.

Base Ball.

The long expected and eagerly anticipated series of base ball games between Eagle Pass and Hondo were played on schedule time Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons.

The visitors arrived on the 5:30 train Wednesday afternoon and proceeded at once to College square where they lined up for a seven-inning game as follows:

EAGLE PASS	HONDO
Joe Sheffield, 1b	O. H. Miller, cf
C. A. McDonald, rf	Geo. Schuehle, lf
Sam Fritter, lf	A. Rothe, ss
W. A. Smith, 2b	Felix Richter, rf
C. McAlpin, 3b	Jim Goff, c
R. H. Bibolet, cf	Jeff Peters, 2b
R. C. DeBona, jr., ss	Jim Merriman, 1b
P. McMenanim, p	Will Muennink, 3b
Frank Fox, c	Ed Ernest, p

This was a hotly contested game in which the batters got five hits off of McMenanim and eight off of Ernest, while the former struck out 13 and the latter 4. H. D. Oldham of Eagle Pass umpired the game and when the smoke—and dust—of the battle cleared away it was a tie on a score of 4 and 4.

The second game was called at 3 o'clock p. m. Wednesday with Dr. W. H. Smith as umpire and the line-up as follows:

EAGLE PASS	HONDO
DeBona, R., ss	Miller, cf
Fritter, lf	Schuehle, lf
Smith, 2b	Goff, c
Sheffield, p	Richter, rf
Bibolet, cf	Baker, p
McAlpin, 3b	Earnest-Peters, 2b
DeBona, H., 1b	Merriman, 1b
McDonald, rf	Rothe, A., ss
Fox, p	Muennink, 3b

Hits off of Sheffield 4; Baker 5.

Struck out by Sheffield 13; Baker 15.

Hondo lost this game to the visitors by a score of 4 to 3.

This put the home boys on their metal and they went after the third game to win, and romped on the Pass boys to the tune of 8 to 2, making the series a stand-off and leaving Hondo still the champion.

Following was the line-up for the third game:

EAGLE PASS	HONDO
DeBona, R., ss	Miller, cf
Fritter, lf	Schuehle, lf
Smith, 2b	Baker, ss
Sheffield, 1b-p	Richter, p
Bibolet-Rosales, cf	Goff, c
McAlpin, 3b	Merriman, rf
McDonald, rf	Rothe, A., 2b
McMenanim, p	Rothe, H., 3b
Fox, c	Schmitt, 1b

Hits off of McMenanim 6; Sheffield 0; Richter 7. Struck out by McMenanim 5; Sheffield 3; Richter 11. Dr. W. H. Smith, umpire.

On Wednesday night the visiting ball players and their Manager, W. E. Hardin, Umpire H. D. Oldham and Score-keeper J. S. Demke were guests of the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department at a grand ball given in their honor at the Auditorium, and on Thursday morning they returned to their home in Eagle Pass, expressing themselves as well pleased with their visit to Hondo.

Mrs. L. J. Hopwood, aged 54 years, died at 12 o'clock noon Wednesday, August 24, 1910, at the home of her brother, D. B. Martin, a few miles below town. The deceased had been sick for a long time and was brought here on a cot from Waco about seven weeks ago, in the hope of benefitting her health but in vain. She was a widow and leaves seven children, three boys and four girls. Three of the children were at her bed-side when death came. The remains were interred in the new cemetery on the afternoon of the 25th, Rev. W. L. Marlin, the Baptist minister, performing the obsequies. The Anvil Herald joins in sympathy for those who mourn.

The boys are under obligations to several of the business men for special favors extended and we are requested, in this connection, to publicly express the thanks of the Department for the same.

A Talk on Co-operation

Did you ever go to an old-fashioned log-rolling back east? What times they used to have and what good eating! For days before hand the farmer had been sawing up the logs in convenient lengths so that six or eight men could handle each log. Then there was the trip to the store to buy "grub". Now all of the neighbors were invited in, the men to help pile the logs so they could be burned, the women to help with the cooking and wait on the table. Those were the good old times. Everybody was happy. How they would lift under the great logs! Then when the horn blew and all went to dinner—and what a dinner it was, too, there was fried and stewed chicken, chicken pie, collards, sweet potatoes, pumpkin pie, egg custard and other good things too numerous to mention. Then what yarns they would tell around the table.

This was one kind of co-operation. A community all helping each other to do what one man could not do by himself. Now, there are other kinds of co-operation and it was left for HEYEN & CO. to introduce this co-operation in Hondo. Most merchants run their stores for their own benefit. The question with them is how much profit can we make for ourselves. Hence, the merchant gets all of the profit and the customers get what is left. HEYEN & CO. determined to make a change in this plan so they have organized the first and only co-operative store in Medina county. It would take too much space here to tell you all about how this firm co-operates with its stockholders, also with every customer.

For some time now, this firm has been sawing the logs and getting everything ready. The good things have all been bought and the cooks are busy preparing a feast of good things for the people of Medina county. Now, we want you to help us pile the logs, then take your place at the table and eat your fill. Remember that you get co-operation as well as give it. Part of the profits on every cash purchase goes right back to the customer. So the customer not only gets fresh, clean goods but he gets part of the profits on every thing he buys. The more you buy for cash the more profits you get. This co-operation extends to every thing in the store. Groceries? Why, you can get any thing that is good to eat. Dry Goods? The shelves and counters are filled with them. Then there is clothing, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Notions, Crockery, Glassware, in fact, everything good to eat and wear. Ask about the co-operative plan at

Violets or Roses

By Clarissa Mackie

(Copyright, 1930, by Associated Literary Press.)

When Noel Osmond asked her if he might send flowers the night of the Hasken ball Mildred Vard smiled enigmatically.

"You are very kind, indeed; and I am especially fond of white violets." Her quick glance caught his little start of surprise at the hint. White violets at that season were quite beyond the slim purse of young Mr. Osmond.

Noel's lips hardened into a straight line. All the pleasure he might feel in knowing that Mildred would wear his flowers was lost in the thought that the flowers would hold no meaning for her beyond their novelty and extravagance.

He did not remain long after that. Rather grave and preoccupied, he held Mildred's hand in his own for a brief instant and then went away. When he reached the florist's he turned in and asked for white violets. The clerk brought out a jar of the white blossoms, velvety, exquisite in texture, but quite odorless. The price was away beyond Noel's pocketbook, and he hesitated.

Of course they might be charged—although he was poor himself, was he not the nephew of the rich Mr. Osmond and very likely his heir—and he need not be mortified in the sight of the girl he loved. Still Noel Osmond had come to the city with very high ideals of paving his way in the world and going without what he could not pay for.

The Vards were rich and fashionable people. But Mildred herself, the youngest daughter, was quite unspoiled by it all. Noel had found himself telling her of his fight for a place in the world and the ambition that kept him bright and keen-eyed and fresh and clean hearted in the midst of a world of temptations.

Mildred had seemed to understand and their relations had been growing a little closer and Noel was hoping—hoping—some miracle might happen whereby he might become rich in a day and so be in position to declare his love.

And, knowing his poverty, she had expressed a wish for white violets!

A telephone bell rang sharply and the clerk turned to the instrument. Noel looked wistfully at the jar of violets. How he would have enjoyed sending that great mass of white blossoms up to Mildred! What was the man saying at the telephone?

"Yes, Mr. Kenyon, we have a few white violets—well, a good-sized bunch—send them up to Miss Vard? Yes, sir, thank you, sir!" He turned briskly to Noel.

"If you do not want these, sir, I have an order for them all."

"I won't take them," said Noel, turning away with a sick jealousy tearing at his heart. He knew Tom Kenyon well—Tom was as rich as Noel was poor.

He ordered pink rosebuds with grim, unpleasant mouth, and paid for them. As he strode homeward he felt for the first time the gall of poverty; he despised himself because he was too poor to be able to indulge the girl he loved. He could never hope to win her for his wife—what had he to offer her save youth and a perpetual struggle to keep up appearances?

Once more he would see her, would dance with her, talk to her; then he would go as far away as he could from this cold, unfeeling New York, where money was the standard in every walk of life. He would go into the west, where fortunes are made quickly, and perhaps some day, if Tom Kenyon did not step in between with his ready-made fortune—but it was very likely Tom would step in!

The hours intervening he spent in bitter calculations that only strengthened his resolve to cut it all and go away, and start his career over again in some city where Mildred Vard's lovely face and charming presence might never tempt him from work.

He carried these bitter reflections with him to the Hasken palace, where so many millions rubbed elbows that it seemed to Noel that the very air of the lighted rooms sparkled with gold dust.

He saw Mildred dancing with Tom Kenyon. He had never been jealous of Tom before, but the episode of the violets had proved to him how weak his own standing was. And she wore on the bosom of her rose-pink gown—not his roses, but Tom Kenyon's white violets!

Noel made himself very wretched that evening. He did not dance often, but he glowered in distant corners where he might watch Mildred's dark head.

To approach her might be to invite a snub. When he did meet her it all happened so suddenly that he could not avoid the situation. He had wandered into the conservatory and was moodily watching the goldfish darting to and fro in the huge basin when there was the sound of quick steps on the marble floor and Tom Kenyon's deep voice saying:

"Sit down here, Millie; I'll bring you an ice." Then he was gone, and Mildred herself, flushed and sparkling, came around the big palm and came upon Noel at the goldfish basin.

"Why, Mr. Osmond, I did not know you were here," she said as he bent above her hand. She drew away and looked at him oddly.

"I'm in a black mood, Miss Vard," said Noel. "In fact I'm so grouchy that I think I'll clear out!" His eyes lingered on her upturned face with its wistful look that he had surprised once or twice before. "I hope you are having a delightful time," he went on lamely.

Her head drooped a little. "Yes, it is a lovely ball. Thank you for the beautiful rosebuds, Mr. Osmond—they are just the color of my gown."

Noel flushed darkly and his eyes rested on the white violets. With a sudden impulse of angry despair he touched the blossoms with a tentative forefinger.

"I could not send you these," he said harshly. "I am too poor, Miss Vard—I sent what I could afford to pay for. You are very gracious to accept the roses when you asked for violets. You see, I've made a big mistake—I'm not in it with the other chaps—I can't play the game!"

Somehow her hand found its way to his arm and was timidly laid on his black sleeve. "I asked you to send violets, Mr. Osmond, because I knew they were extravagant," she said quietly.

Osmond stared, puzzled, yet strangely thrilled by her tone. "What do you mean, Miss Vard?" he asked.

"I wondered if you were like all the rest of them, living beyond your means, spending more than you could afford to pay for—or whether you were what you appeared to be, working your way upward with the courage of your convictions apparent in your actions! I am not disappointed, Mr. Osmond. If you had sent me white violets I am afraid I would have been quite disgusted with you."

Noel's heart was beating hard. "But I would have liked to have you wear my roses," he was beginning, when she touched the frill of pink chiffon that edged the low neck of her gown.

"Your buds are here," she said softly, and Noel saw that his pink roses formed a garland across her bosom above the violets. After that, events moved rapidly, and with Mildred's hands in his own and her head on his breast he was explaining all his doubts and fears since he had left her that afternoon. And Mildred explained that Tom Kenyon was engaged to her sister Ethel, and Ethel had pinned the white violets upon Mildred's gown, for generous Tom had sent her too many for one person.

The miracle did not occur till the next day when Noel's Uncle Francis Osmond offered him a place in his banking house. "In order to learn the business which you must one day inherit, young man!" he said sharply. "I've been watching you, Noel, and expecting you to fall into the fast pace every day, but I'm disappointed, agreeably, my boy! I happened to be in that florist shop yesterday (looking at orchids behind a screen) and saw you turn down the violets and pay for the roses like a man—you're the right stuff!"

Now It's Repeated.

"With my customary slowness it has taken me all this time to learn the fashionable medical terms for 1910," said the man who takes medicine. "There is the word that is properly applied to a refilled prescription, for instance. When I first began to use drugs in large quantities, refilled was the word used when we got a bottle of medicine put up a second time. Later somebody concluded that renewed would sound better, so for two or three years we had our prescriptions renewed. But this year when we got our old bottles filled the prescription is repeated. I don't intend to be behindhand next year, and already I have commenced to study the dictionary to find out what word will most likely be favored next."

One of Sheehan's Ways.

R. F. Sheehan, connected with the Tod-Stambaugh company, is said to have the most unusual characteristic that there is any record of. It is this: He never laces up his shoes until after breakfast. It matters not whether he's at home or abroad, he dresses himself carefully to the minutest detail, pulls on his shoes and lets them go unlaced until he has been to the dining room. He says he doesn't know why he waits until after breakfast to tie his shoes, except that it's a habit. He's followed the practice so long that he cannot remember when he first took on that system of dressing.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED"

Wives No Longer Mope at Home While Husband Spends His Time at the Club.

If wives continue to grow sensible at the present rate, the time will come when everybody will know "how to be happy, though married." Time was when the picture of the wife moping at home, while the husband took his night off at the club, was a true one. It isn't so these days, a writer declares.

When the modern husband says to the modern wife, "My dear, I'm going to dine at the club Thursday night; I may be rather late," the modern wife says cheerfully, "Very well, dear," and sits down to invite invitations to a dozen or so of her friends for a nice little hen party for Thursday night.

And there's just as good a time at the hen party as the husband is having at the club, too. There is a perfect little dinner of the most expensive delicacies of the season, and then there is bridge. And who worries about what her husband is doing at the club when there is bridge to be played? Not the modern wife.

They play for stakes at these hen parties, too. In fact, all the comforts of the club, to change an old saying a little, are fast being appropriated by these poor deserted wives.

The Best Hour of Life

is when you do some great deed or discover some wonderful fact. This hour came to J. R. Pitt, of Rocky Mt., N.C., when he was suffering intensely, as he says, "from the worst cold I ever had, I then proved to my great satisfaction, what a wonderful Cold and Cough cure Dr. King's New Discovery is. For after taking one bottle, I was entirely cured. You can't say anything too good of a medicine like that." It's the surest and best remedy for diseased lungs, Hemorrhages, LaGrippe, Asthma, Hay Fever—any Throat or Lung Trouble. 50c., $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by W. H. Windrow.

A Chance in Any Case.

Muriel (letting him down easy)—I should advise you not to take it to heart. I might prove a most undesirable wife. Marriage is a lottery, you know.

Malcolm (bitterly)—It strikes me as more like a raffle. One man gets the prize and the others get the shake.—Smart Set.

Asthma and summer bronchitis, take Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly relieves the discomfort and suffering and the annoying symptoms disappear. It soothes and heals the inflamed air passages of the head, throat and bronchial tubes. It contains no opiates and no harmful drugs. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Windrow.

The World's Best Runners.

The best runners in the world are said to be a race of Indians living near the Gulf of California. They are known as Seris, and number only some 400. In the open country the women and children catch hares by hand without any artificial aid whatever. The men, however, look upon this as child's play, and themselves attack and capture antelopes, deer and wild buffalo. The swiftest horse cannot outrun these foot-footed Indians, who perform on foot the same feats as the cowboy on his broncho.

A boy can be seen driving horses round and round in an inclosed track, and when they have got up a good speed one of the barriers is removed and a horse dashes into the prairie at full speed. It has not gone 120 yards before the Indian has caught up with it; another 60 yards and he has bounded on its back, seized its mane with one hand and its nostrils with the other and thrown it to the ground.

Life On Panama Canal

has had one frightful drawback—malaria trouble—that has brought suffering and death to thousands. The germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "Three bottles completely cured me of a very severe attack of malaria," writes Wm. A. Fretwell, of Lucana, N. C., "and I've had good health ever since." Cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney Troubles, and prevent Typhoid. 50c. Guaranteed by W. H. Windrow.

Real Reading.

In anything fit to be called by the name of reading, the process itself should be absorbing and voluptuous; we should gloat over a book, be rapt clean out of ourselves, and rise from the perusal, our mind filled with the busiest, kaleidoscope dance of images, incapable of sleep, or of continuous thought. The words, if the book be eloquent, should run thenceforward in our ears like the noise of breakers, and the story, if it be a story, repeat itself in a thousand colored pictures to the eye.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

They Have a Definite Purpose.

Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief in cases of kidney and bladder ailments. Mrs. Rose Glaser, Terre Haute, Ind., tells the result in her case. "After suffering for many years from a serious case of kidney trouble and spending much money for so-called cures, I found Foley Kidney Pills the only medicine that gave me a permanent cure. I am again able to be up and attend to my work. I shall never hesitate to recommend them." W. H. Windrow.

Failed in Health

"My mother died six years ago," writes Miss Ruth Ward, of Jerseyville, Ill., "and left me to care for six children. I had never been strong; and this, with the shock of her death, was too much for me.
 "I failed in health. I was tired all the time and did not want to go anywhere, nor care for company. I had the headache all the time and such bearing-down pains.
 "A very dear friend advised me to take Cardui, as it had done her so much good, so I commenced to use it and now I am in good health."

Take CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Women's pains are relieved or prevented and women's strength is quickly restored, by Cardui, the woman's tonic. You yourself know best if you need it, or not. If you do need it, do not delay, but commence to use it at once. Every day of delay only lets you slide further down the hill.
 Don't wait, then, but begin to take Cardui today, for its use, no matter how prolonged, cannot harm you and will surely do you good.

This makes a total valuation of all property in Medina county rendered for taxation of $9,279,336. This is an increase over 1909 of $244,670. There are also assessed 1317 polls amounting to a tax for both state and county of $2,304.25.

Peevish Children.

Children are retarded in growth, held back in school, become peevish, nervous and fretful all because of some stomach disturbances. Look after your children's bowels. Do not allow them to become constipated. See that they digest their food properly. Then they will look well and feel well. To regulate the stomach and bowels and cure these disturbances, give them Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as specially prescribed for children. It is absolutely guaranteed to do what is claimed, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all druggists at 50c. and $1 a bottle.

Women Ahead.

As women, we should not quarrel with our horizon, nor should we shrewishly arraign poor man because he has civilized us at his expense. We must realize simply that emotionally we are centuries ahead of him, and that we shall have to wait patiently for him to grow up and meantime moderate our steps to his just as we do when we take the baby out for an airing.—Woman's Life.

What is Best for Indigestion?

Mr. A. Robinson of Drumquin, Ontario, has been troubled for years with indigestion, and recommends Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets as "the best medicine I ever used." If troubled with indigestion or constipation give them a trial. They are certain to prove beneficial. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at all dealers.

Modern Marriage.

Every marriage should have a business manager, a cool, sensible man to see that the parties are properly mated. The parties to the marriage will attend to the love but neglect the business end of the match, which is more important.—Aitchison Globe.

The Texas Newspapers

The dissemination of information has largely to do with the prosperity and development of a country. In no country on the globe does Nature possess such astounding possibilities and reveal them in such rapid and cumulative order as in Texas, making an imperative necessity for newspapers in the home of every farmer who desires to profit by the gifts of Nature and the experience of his neighbors.

There are 950 publications in Texas of which 89 are dailies, 768 weeklies, and the remainder are issued at regular intervals. The total listed circulation of all papers in Texas is 3,170,515 copies, an average of four papers for each family in the State. In the number of papers published within the State we rank sixth in the Union; Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa and Missouri leading in the order named. The Federal Government census for 1905 reports capital invested in printing and publishing in Texas of $6,074,319, a pay roll of $2,063,935 per annum, and the annual output is valued at $7,782,247. Among the industries of the State it ranks sixth in capital invested, fifth in pay rolls and sixth in the value of products. One issue of all the papers in Texas approximates one copy per capita, and making the comparison from a population basis we lead all States in the Union in the number of periodicals issued and the number of copies printed.

Circulation 3,170,515.

Texas stands first in intelligence, first in progress and first in industrial opportunities of all the States in the Union, says the Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association.

The newspaper is the channel of communication between the producer and consumer; brings the city to the farm and the farm to the city; gives information of the markets and of the development of the country; carries warnings of impending danger and gives the farmer the advantage of the experience of all his neighbors and informs him of the general condition of affairs so essential to his success. The improvement of our public highways and the establishment of rural free delivery routes have extended the zone of circulation of the press to the remotest sections of the State, and reading the papers is as much a part of the work of the Texas farmer as feeding his stock.

Four Papers Per Family.

The ability of a farmer can be as easily judged by the literature he reads as by the crops he harvests. The printing press is the industrial educator of the age.

Dr. Brown, Metropolis, Ill.

It is not often that a practicing doctor will recommend someone's else remedy, and when he does so it means that the remedy must have made an extraordinary impression on him. In this connection Dr. Wilson Brown of Metropolis, Ill., said that if people used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for stomach, liver and bowel troubles they would have less use for him. It is guaranteed to do all we claim, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by all druggists at 50c. and $1 a bottle.

Carping.

The professor of literature had been criticised sharply for certain letters written by him. "Confound these cheap critics," he muttered, "there's nothing wrong with the letters. I defy any one to find a split infinitive in the lot."

"You Can Fool All the People Part of the Time and Some People All the Time"

It is a very common occurrence for some piano dealers to advertise a lot of unknown makes, of unknown value, at prices that are supposed to effect a saving to the buyer, but eventually the unsophisticated discover that their supposed bargain was a rather expensive purchase.

Our instruments are standard makes and priced in accordance with their intrinsic value. Every piano in our showroom bears the guarantee of the maker in addition to our own. When you purchase a piano at this store you can depend on the quality and by reason of our one-price method you know positively that some other individual has not bought a similar instrument at a lesser cost.

The cultivated, the discriminating, the prominent, almost always use one of these makes:

MASON & HAMLIN, HARDMAN, BUSH & GERTS, HARRINGTON, HENSEL

The greater the pianist's ability, the more cultured the ear of the hearer, the higher will be the appreciation of the rich and colorful tones of these instruments. They embody a distinct individuality, bringing to the surface the best there is in composer and pianist alike. Our easy payment plan will enable you to use the piano while paying for it. Old instruments taken in exchange.
